ACCESSING CAPITAL

Growing your business requires money. Whether funding payroll, inventory purchases, capital expenditures, or a strategic acquisition, capital allows your organization to take advantage of opportunities to grow your business and your bottom line.

EGP works with you to determine the best use of existing and potential capital and then helps you to identify the right source for increasing your financial resources. Whether the source is Factoring, Lines of Credit, Loans, or Equity Investment, having an objective advisor helps you to not only understand the costs associated with each form of capital, but to also minimize the cost and time required in accessing the funding. Having worked with companies to achieve small $100,000 loans to working on financing in excess of $50 million, EGP professionals know how to prepare and successfully present your business and financials to potential lenders or investors.

Preparation: EGP works closely with business owners and management teams to determine the preferred source of capital. This step includes a thorough review of both the company's financials and the goals and objectives of the capital funding. This preparation proves beneficial in preparing a package for prospective lenders or investors.
