

I help people discover their purpose and unleash their power.
I help organizations unlock their potential and drive their profitability.

Hi, I'm James R. Nowlin, J.D, CEO of Excel Global Partners (EGP). Having earned the reputation as the "secret weapon" strategic advisor and behind-the-scenes coach to successful C-suite executives and business owners, I have helped highly accomplished professionals to advance their careers and to find greater sense of purpose and personal happiness. In our exclusive Executive Excelerator™ programs, we work with both individuals and groups to help them identify and unleash opportunities for growth and strategic planning. Executive Excelerators™ produce results in personal and professional expansion beyond executives' wildest dreams as they execute upon powerful new pathways.

Do you:

- Not fully tap into your potential or wish to live in a state of flow?
- Want more out of life?
- Yearn for greater depth in relationships and your career?
- Hunger for better financial and operational performance in your organization?

Then, let's get started with customized coaching.

What you will get: A customized one-on-one coaching program led by a world-class coach that fits your schedule, budget, and goals. You will get unstuck and be held accountable for achieving your goals. Your game will be taken to the next level and beyond. And believe it or not, you will have fun along the way!

What you won't get: Wasted time, an inexperienced coach, or meaningless homework assignments that don't stretch you or help you to achieve your greatest potential.

Depending upon budget, I am able available to meet via phone, video, or in person at your office or home. I also host select clients for private intensive retreats and strategy sessions.
